Gulf Water Christens Port Arthur Scenic Route on Completion of St. Paul Link

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 27.—The most important link and the finest piece of paving in Minnesota of the Mississippi River Scenic Highway, Port Arthur, Canada, and Port Arthur, Texas, route, was formally opened Tuesday and dedicated by International President Truman Pierson of Minneapolis.

The road was christened by Miss Mariel Virginia Pierson, daughter of the president of the Port Arthur route, who broke a bottle containing water from the Gulf of Mexico,

Lake Superior and the Mississippi river on the new pavement. This pavement completes an important link in road projections involving $6,500,000.

Extending from St. Paul, Minn., to Port Arthur, Ont., via Duluth, approximately $150,000,000 will be the total cost of this famous scenic river drive that will connect New Orleans with Port Arthur, Ont., passing through Baton Rouge, La., Natchez, Miss., Vicksburg, Miss., Greenville, Clarksville, Miss., Memphis, Tenn., St. Louis, Quincy, Ill., Keokuk, Iowa, Fort Madison, Iowa, Burlington, Iowa, Muscatine, Iowa, Davenport, Iowa, Clinton, Iowa, Dubuque, Iowa, Superior, Wisc., Duluth, Minn.

Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock represented Minnesota in the ceremony. Addresses were made by Mayor Arthur Nelson of St. Paul, Mayor George Leach of Minneapolis, Senator George H. Sullivan of Stillwater and International President Pierson, founder of the Port Arthur route.

Mrs. Dr. Pierson declared that this road would bind north and south and Canada and the Gulf in one common bond of brotherly love and neighborly affection and earn popularity as America's greatest scenic highway.

A telegram of congratulations from The Port Arthur News was read following the christening ceremony and booklets prepared by the Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce and Shipping and depicting scenes in and about Port Arthur, the industrial port of the south, distributed among nearly a hundred present.

POSTAL SLEUTH HELD IN ROBBERY

Charged With Being Brains In $200,000 Robbery

MAINTAINS INNOCENCE

Fellow Inspectors Cause His Arrest

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—William F. Faber, known as the "best postoffice inspector in the business," the sleuth who solved the Dearborn Station robbery of three years ago and put "Big Tim" Murphy behind the bars, himself was a prisoner today, charged with being the brains of the $200,000 mail train holdup at Roundout, Illinois, June 12.

Admitted Since Holding

Faber's arrest was brought about by the personal investigation of A. E. Gerner, chief postal inspector of the Chicago area. He had been charged, since the Dearborn robbery, with being the brains of the $200,000 mail train holdup at Roundout, Illinois, June 12.

The brilliant postal sleuth was taken to Kane county jail, adjoining Chicago, after he was fixed at $50,000.

C. H. Claram, chief postal inspector of New York, J. S. Lensen of Baltimore, C. E. Miller of Washington, Thomas Miligan of Toledo, H. E. Nicoll of Syracuse, John W. Hartwell of Albany and C. C. Battles of New York aided Gerner in his investigation of Faber. These inspectors local postoffice officials said, have records for running down postal robbers which are overshadowed by that of one man—"Bill" Faber.

"Everything will come out in the wash," Faber said as he was taken into custody.

Robbery Carefully Planned

"I suppose they think they have something on me because I've been in communication with Jimmy Murray," (Murray is a notorious underworld character in Chicago)

Faber indicated Murray was an old friend of his and had been of assistance in getting information on criminal operations of Murray's enemies.

The Roundout robbery was one of the most spectacular and at the same time one of the most carefully planned holdups on record. Ten participants, each being assigned to a certain place.

The same band that staged the Roundout robbery is suspected of other smaller mail holdups throughout the middle west.

YOUTHS CONFESS KILLING WOMAN

Incriminate Two Girls in Chicago Mystery

CHICAGO, August 27.—Another of Chicago's "mystery murders" was solved today by the confessions of two boys still in their teens.

William Lydon, 16, and Anthony Vallina, 10, admitted killing Mrs. Beattie Gaensslen, 40, in her apartment during a robbery, police officers announced.

Two young girls, the boys said, helped them in the crime.

Mr. Gaensslen, a wealthy divorcee, was murdered April 17. Several arrests were made but all suspects were later released.

Yesterday, Evelyn Navok, an inmate of a girls' home, told a story to police in which she said Lucille Marshall and Anna Vallina, two former inmates of the same institution, admitted to her that they helped murder Mrs. Gaensslen. The girls told Evelyn the actual killing was done by the two boys.

Ford Defends Klan As Victim of 'Mass Of Lying Propaganda'

FLIVVER MAKER IN INTERVIEW In Montreal Praises Order As 'Patriotic Body With Ideals'

MONTREAL, Aug. 27.—"If the truth were known about the Ku Klux Klan, it would be looked upon as a patriotic body, concerned with nothing but further development of the country in which it was born and the preservation of the supremacy of the true American in his own land."

That, according to an interview published in the Montreal Star today, is Henry Ford's opinion of the hooded order.

The Star interviewed Ford as he passed through the Lachine Canal, carrying his car to his home in Dearborn, Michigan, and quotes him as saying:

"This is the victim of a mass of lying propaganda and therefore is looked upon with disfavor in many quarters."

Ford, according to the Star, denied that he is a member of the hooded society, but praised its ideals without stint.

The manufacturer thought none of the American presidential candidates have a chance except President Coolidge.

The $2750, with the exception of $200 given personally by Mayor Logan, represented three months pay of the members of the 11th Engineers of the local Texas National Guard. That this will be boosted to $3000 today from members of the Engineers not present last night, officers said.

One feature of last night's meeting not brought out before is that the Engineers will give title to the building to the city, which will be a nucleus for any city auditorium project in the future.

Good Sales Start

In other words, the army will be built on city property. Should the citizens in the next few years, vote $100,000 or less or greater amount for a first class city auditorium, proper the structure will be thrown in and additions made to it.

Several large donations are expected from industrial concerns, committee members say. Ten committees today started out to sell bonds for the proposition. Huge signs have been printed and painted and placed on cars and in public places all over the city asking for assistance in the movement.

Prisoner Suggests Officer Test Drink With Poison Label

Skull and cross bones bearing from the label on a bottle of denatured alcohol had little effect on a man picked up late last night by Night Captain Heckman and Officer L. C. Smith of the police department.

The man charged with drunkenness had two of the bottles of alcohol and a good part of a quart of corn liquor in his possession. The alcohol was marked poison in red letters. Officers don't know whether the poison label was a stall bidding whiskey in the bottle or was really warning of alcohol poison.

The arrested man said he wasn't sure himself and suggested Night Sgt. Bright sample one of the bottles and settle the question, admitting he was as curious as the police to find out positively.

COLLAPSES AS VESSEL DOCKS

Port Arthur Fisherman Lost On Gulf 30 Days

BLOWN OFF COURSE

Saved From Trinity Shoals By Tug Boat

Gaunt and wasted, sunburned, a month's growth of beard on his face, C. J. Prince, well known fisherman of Port Arthur, twice given up for dead, was safely home today.

Strain of 30 days voyage from Mobile in his little two masted schooner Tarpon and days and nights filled with nerve racking work in calm and storm, showed up Prince today. His lips are raw and sore, cracked open by blistering sun and glare from the water.

Collapses Over Hatch

Tuesday night when the Tarpon finally came to the quiet harbor of the ship canal at the city wharf, Prince collapsed, falling prone across the hatch covers, utterly exhausted and worn out. Aching muscles and strained nerves refused to carry him any longer.

"I wanted to go up town last night and see my friends and relatives, but I fainted across the hatch and couldn't make it," Prince said today.

A month ago Prince and a 19 year old shipmate set out from Mobile in the schooner for Port Arthur. They were without navigation instruments, and charts on board the little craft were inadequate for such a voyage. Winds and storms drove the Tarpon off the coast, and for the second time since Prince set out four months ago to bring the boat from Biloxi, Mississippi, friends and relatives here thought he was lost at sea.

Tug Saves Craft

Helpless in a strong current and broadside winds, the Tarpon was driving for the thundering surf breaking over Trinity Shoals early Monday morning. Utter destruction of the craft and death for Prince and the lad aboard seemed inevitable, when a tug boat with a dredge in tow was sighted.

Prince sent the boy on the after mast of the Tarpon to wave a sheet for a distress signal. Men on the tug got the message.

Houston Watchman's Body Is Found In Ruins

HOUSTON, Aug. 27.—Charged almost beyond recognition, the body of Herman Lentzsch, 66, watchman at the Texas Barrel Works, which burned Tuesday night with a loss of more than $300,000, was found Wednesday morning by Lentzsch's nine year old son who began a search when his father failed to return home this morning. It was covered by debris.

The watchman's pistol and flashlight have not been found. Police believe that the man was murdered but can advance no motive other than robbery. The office safe, however, was intact.

Mrs. Ferguson's Lead Placed at 92,033

Ma Ferguson to Put Her Own Platform Before State Confab

Texas' First Woman Gubernatorial Nominee to Essay Role of Modern Political Joan of Arc at Austin

By News Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 27.—"Ma" Ferguson is going to have a few things to say about the operation of the state democratic convention to be held in Austin on September 2.

And around the question of the elimination of the Ku Klux Klan from what she is wont to refer to as the secret domination of Texas politics will center a war in which she will lead the anti-klan legions as a modern Joan of Arc.

Wants Platform Recognized

"I'm going to try to get the convention to adopt my platform," Mrs. Ferguson told The News representative in response to a question as to her intentions for the September 2 meeting.

"I'm going to be there as a delegate from Bell county and Mr. Ferguson will be there, too. He's just been notified of his selection as a delegate to the state convention from Eastland county. His name was not put up at the Bell county convention as a delegate. I don't know why. But anyway, I'm going from Bell county," she said.

It is the Texas woman's intention to seek to have the state convention adopt her platform on which she waged the campaign for nomination.

The salient features of this platform include proposed legislation against the wearing of masks, stinging of masked assemblies, and sweeping reductions in expenditures by a majority of the state departments.

"Ma" Ferguson's hope to enlist the cooperation of enough delegates to the state convention here in September, the article states, to insure the enforcement of her legislative and administrative program, to be inaugurated and pushed by her when she assumes office following her nearly certain election in November.

Among the important reductions Mrs. Ferguson has stood for since she assumed her candidacy for the democratic nomination and which she has by no means abandoned since her successful race, are:

1. Abolition of two of the three posts of the state board of control.

2. Abolishment of the state coporate board.

Second Mate Has Hot Time With $300 Here

Port Arthur's night life sets a pace which rivals Havana, Madrid and other coast cities of the world, according to a second mate on a foreign ship picked up by police Tuesday following a brawl.

The sailor explained he left his ship for shore leave Tuesday morning at 3:30. Before 5 in the morning he didn't have enough left to buy a cup of coffee. His mates paid him out of jail the next morning.

"Your town's a good one but it takes too much to make the rounds," remarked the second mate as he returned to his ship to accumulate another $300.

As reported by the fleet corporation, the contract with Flanagan will mean a saving of about $17,000, or about 10 per cent, which, with the $220,000 estimated to cover the work throughout the year, is based upon the business of the last fiscal year, advised from Washington state. C. Flanagan, head of the stevedoring firm, is expected to return to Port Arthur from Washington tonight.

Included in the contract are the ports of Port Arthur, Orange, Port Neches and Beaumont. For the past two years the district stevedoring contract has been let by the shipping board to P. C. Pfeiffer and company, Port Arthur stevedores. This firm also submitted a bid for the work during the ensuing fiscal year, the terms being very close to those of the Flanagan bid. It is understood in local maritime circles.

Following her conversation with Flanagan, she went to sleep and some time later came down to the dining room.

Testifies As To Gun

Mrs. Clark then said that Flanagan told her that he was carrying a gun for Matise and said, "I will never rest until I get that follow."

Mrs. Clark also testified to conversations with Flanagan with reference to his father who was an attorney, "If I ever get in trouble, all I would have to do would be to call on my father." Flanagan told Mrs. Clark, "I told him," Mrs. Clark said that I would be ashamed to call on my father after I had brought trouble on myself in this way.

Three state witnesses were placed on stand prior to Mrs. Clark. Carey Batson, room-mate and friend of Flanagan at the time of the killing was first placed on the stand. He was an eye witness to the shooting, but he declared that he had never heard Flanagan say that he was carrying a gun.

Commander J. L. Dunn asks all friends of the Legion who desire a part in the cast to be on hand tonight and try out for places. Ticket sales will begin Thursday under direction of L. J. Paschal.

'Dixie Revue' to Hold First Rehearsal Tonight

First rehearsal for the "Dixie Revue of 1924" annual musical comedy of the American Legion will be held tonight at 7:30 at the Elks theater when a cast of 100 will be chosen by George Stephens, director of the Dixie Revue production company of Houston, who will begin the production.

Several Protest Assessments In Equalization Session, But Hearings Not as Stormy as Last Year

"How come you raise my taxes for nothing?"

"Well, you see it's to equalize things—make your lot just as much as your neighbor's."

"Dat's all right, but you all ain't never done nothing down here. If it rain, and a fellow die down here, ambulance never could get him out. Now, sah, you ain't never done nothing down here. How come you all ain't put no shell down?"

"Well, it's in the bond issue, and they're tied up with an injunction, and just as soon as we get that straightened out we'll be right down there. It's provided for in the bond issue."

This was a sample of the conversation between the city board of equalization and one of the colored taxpayers west of Houston avenue who couldn't figure out why the value of his lot should be raised. But when given a promise, he left with a smile of hope spread over his face.

His case was only one of a woody number, although none of the complaints involved a great amount. Probably two dozen callers visited the board this morning, and the total amount of reductions granted the protesters amounted to approximately $25,000.

"Here, you've got my place raised from $5,000 to $7,100—want to buy it for that? I'll let you have it. Mr. Wade, you told me all the time my place wasn't worth anything. Want to buy it?"

This time it was a Houston avenue woman.

She was for her property had increased in value and $500 worth of buildings had been added, and here was a little item of $400 for a piano.

"I know it they caught me playing that piano—that's the only way they ever found out."

The commissioners agreed $400 (Turn to Page 3, Column 3)

Landlady Traces Trouble To Teasing of Girls

By News Staff Writer

BEAUMONT, Texas, Aug. 27.—Trouble over her two daughters, with one of whom Michael Matise had been keeping company, was detailed on the witness stand this morning by Mrs. May Clark of Port Arthur in the Matise murder hearing in the 90th district court.

Webster Flanagan, whom Matise is charged with killing, had kept company with her for a while before "breaking up," Miss Fay Clark, sister of Miss Murrell Clark, with whom Matise had been going, testified.

Mrs. Clark First Defense Witness

First witness for the defense in the Michael Matise murder hearing was placed on the stand shortly after 10 o'clock this morning in 90th district court.

Matise, 20-year-old Port Arthur boy is charged with the killing of Webster Flanagan on September 9, 1923. Shortly after the killing he was released on $10,000 bond following a grand jury indictment.

A detailed account of trouble between Matise and Flanagan was given by Mrs. Fay Clark, first witness for the defense placed on the stand. Mrs. Clark testified that she was a widow, the mother of Fay and Murrell Clark and that she kept grocers and boarders at her home on Fifteenth street.

Says Girls Teased

Webster Flanagan lived at her home for three months prior to the shooting and shortly before the homicide, Carey Batson and Webster Flanagan had roomed together. Mrs. Clark stated that one of her daughters, introduced Michael Matise to the Flanagan family.

And that Matise and Flanagan were "several" times. Webster Flanagan had been going with one of the girls before Matise was introduced to them, according to Mrs. Clark.

After Matise had been coming to the house some time, he introduced J. O. Chappell to the girls, and for some time the two couples, Fay and Murrell Clark, with Michael Matise and Chappell, went together, she testified.

Mrs. Clark declared that Flanagan and Batson began teasing the girls about going with Matise and Chappell, and made derisive remarks about the automobiles they came to the house in.

"I thought it was all in fun at first," Mrs. Clark declared, "but I found later that they seemed to be trying to make trouble."

Related Talk With Flanagan

Mrs. Clark stated that on various occasions the girls came to her and told her that Flanagan and Batson had followed them when they were driving out.

Mrs. Clark also gave an account of a conversation she had with Flanagan on Thursday before the shooting. She stated she went to Flanagan's room and reminded him of a promise that he had made to the effect that if he had any trouble with Matise, he would settle it outside of the house. She said Flanagan declared he would try to comply with her wish but added that "he never had liked Matise since the first day I laid eyes on him." Flanagan also said at the time that if "Matise had been a man he would never have taken what he had from him," she said.

Following her conversation with Flanagan, she went to sleep and some time later came down to

Negroes Had Good Gats But Were Poor Shots

Two good pistols in the hands of two bad negroes who proved very poor marksmen resulted only in a shooting in the neighborhood in the 2100 blocks on Ixer and Fifth streets about 9 this morning as the pistols boomed.

Police Chief Covington and Officer Bennett and Shepard arriving a few minutes later found one of the negroes crouching in his home and another quaking in a nearby bakery where he had fled for refuge. Both the combatants had hidden their weapons.

After a few remarks from the chief one of the negroes produced a pistol hidden under a pillow in his house and the other brought one from under a baker's apron. Both admitted they were poor shots. A woman was the cause of the original hard feelings leading to the pistol practice, both readily admitted.

Charges of carrying pistols and disturbing the peace were filed against each.

HOUSE NEAR CHURCH RAIDED, 9 ARE HELD
Proclaiming to a church had little effect upon the fate of nine alleged police players late Tuesday night when Police Chief Covington and Officer Berwick raided a house next to a religious structure and arrested the participants.

The chance takers admitted they thought Chief Covington would never think to raid a residence next door to a church. It cost the nine $15.00 each on pleas of guilty today in city court.

5 May Be Charged With Robbing Negro

Charges of highway robbery with firearms will probably be filed this afternoon against a Police Chief W. W. Covington against five men who are alleged to have held up a negro musician on the beach road late last night and relieved him of $20 cash and a watch.

The negro made his complaint to Detective Rose today, stating he was riding back from the beach with the quartet when he was robbed. He said he had played for a dance out there and had received the $20 in donations. All five of the men were identified by the negro as those he claimed robbed him.

GARMENT PLANT DECISION READY

C. C. Committee to Talk Terms to Manufacturer

A committee to act with the industrial board of the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping will confer Thursday with the eastern manufacturer due here to receive a definite answer to his proposition to build here with the co-operation of local business interests, a garment factory.

The committee was appointed at a call meeting held at chamber headquarters Monday night.

Directors and officials of the chamber met with business men at last night's meeting and decided the proposition of a garment plant was one which Port Arthur does not intend to let get past if there is any possibility of securing it. The committee, with the industrial board, is authorized to talk terms with the manufacturer and to concretely determine what his proposition is. It is understood work shirts and trousers are main garments to be manufactured.

H. C. Crawford is head of the chamber industrial board. With the board will be a committee composed of H. F. Bunker as chairman and the following members who will investigate the manufacturer's proposition: Leonard Smith, Ed Lohmann, George M. Craig, Travis Holland, Henry Lohmann, J. W. Williams and F. P. Wood.

SERMONIZES ON DIVINE TRINITY

Rev. W. L. Oliphant Explains Biblical Allusion

"Number Three" was the intriguing subject of the sermon delivered last night by Evangelist W. L. Oliphant of Oklahoma before a large audience at the Church of Christ. The largest audience that has thus far attended was present last evening.

After remarking that most folks are selfish enough to be more interested in "number one" than in any other person, Rev. Oliphant explained the meaning of his subject by showing that the number three, in the Bible carries with it the idea of perfection and that it was the purpose of his discourse to show the perfection of God's arrangements.

"The first number three we notice we shall call the Divine Trinity," he said. "It is composed of God, Christ and the Holy Spirit. These three form the Godhead, and are the source of God's government, in planning the government of the United States, our statesmen saw the wisdom of dividing the government into three distinct branches. We have the legislative department, which makes our laws; the executive department, which enforces our laws; and the judicial department, which explains and construes the laws of the land. God is the Legislative head of the universe. Every good law comes from him. Christ is the Chief Executive of the universe. He began the execution of God's law just as every officer in our government should do, that is by putting the law into practice, and becoming an example for others. Just as the judicial branch of our government explains and construes our laws, so the Holy Spirit's mission is to reveal, explain and construe the laws of God. The Bible contains the decision of the Holy Spirit. It can turn to its pages and find the opinion of the supreme court of the universe. From that decision there can be no appeal."

The meeting will continue through this week and next week. Morning services, which are held at 9:00 o'clock, will be devoted to instruction for the church. Evening services begin at 7:45.

NEGRO BOUND OVER ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Bound in the sum of $500 was set against Ben Johnson, negro, charged before Judge H. G. Robertson in justice court Tuesday afternoon with highway robbery with violence following complaint of a white woman a week ago who said she was attacked and $5 taken from her.

Johnson had failed to perfect his bond this morning.

TWO GET PERMITS FOR NEW HOUSES

Tuesday afternoon showed a small boost in building permits when residence applications totaling $4,000 were received by Charles Busby, city building inspector.

H. A. Fouth took a permit to erect a residence at 3522 Eighth and to cost $3,000. The other was by Tom Armstrong for a home valued at $1000.

Vacation Bible School Attendance Now 200

Daily attendance at the Vacation Bible school has reached 200 and the work that is being done is proving satisfactory to both Rev. C. W. Rodgers, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, and Rev. V. A. Godbey, pastor of the First M. E. Church, South, they announced today.

Classes for all ages are being conducted daily from 8:45 a. m. to 11:15 a. m. at the First M. E. Church, South, and at the evening hour an address is given by one of the pastors at the First M. E. church, Stilwell and Lake Shore drive.

Dr. Godbey, who has delivered the addresses on both Monday and Tuesday evenings, will have charge of the joint prayer meeting of the two churches tonight at the First Methodist Episcopal church. On Thursday and Friday evenings Dr. Rodgers will deliver the addresses and on Sunday evening Dr. Rodgers will speak to a union assembly of the two congregations on the ground floor in the open air at the First M. E. Church, South. Sunday morning both pastors will fill their own pulpits. The school work will be held the remainder of this week and will continue through next week and will hold its 1541 Fifth street.

DIPLOMATIC OIL

(Continued from Page 1) was too high a valuation for the piano. Two hundred dollars would be much better, it was agreed. "Sixty-five hundred dollars for everything," said Mayor Logan. "Well, every little bit helps."

"Why, that's a whole lot," the commissioners echoed. "All right, thank you all—good bye."

Next came indignation Dodge auto owner caught by Lomax's check over the auto rolls where he found nearly 1500 owners who hadn't rendered their gasoline record.

"What model's your car?" "It's a 1933—almost 2 years old—terrible wreck. You can see $300."

"Got it out there? Let's look at it," suggested Commissioner Wiley. "No, it's in the shop—broke."

"All right, make it $250," said the mayor.

And so it went all morning.

The board of equalization will be in session through Friday. Approximately 3,000 notices of assessments added to those voluntarily made by taxpayers, including the delinquent owners, were mailed out. Lomax says. Many of these are not expected to make any complaint, however.

This year's hearing, so far, has been very peaceful, the commissioners noted this morning as they recalled the storm over the installation of the unit system last year.

Last year's valuation totaled approximately $27,000,000, while the total this year is expected to reach $29,000,000, although this was a sheer guess made by Lomax.

Increases in real estate valuations made by Lomax, and on which notices were mailed out, reached not more than $50,000, and were chiefly on the west of the K. C. S. tracks. Building permits for the past year added more than a million dollars to the valuations.

SUSPECT HELD, CHECKS SEIZED

$575 Worth Ready to Be Cashed Taken

A total of $575 worth of checks on a Texas oil drilling company was confiscated Tuesday afternoon by Officers Bennett and Shepard of the police department who arrested a man in a local printing office who was having an order placed for some blank checks to be printed.

The checks had been made out with a regular machine and were apparently ready to be cashed. Investigation by police officials failed to identify the drilling company upon which the checks were made. No record of any of the checks being passed in Port Arthur has been found by police.

The man is being held for investigation.

COLLAPSES

"In order to get to us in time to save us from the shoals, the men on the tug had to cut the cable attached to the dredge boat in tow," Prince said today. "The sea was running so high we were almost smashed alongside the dredge, but finally got squared away with towing lines secured."

"A line was shot out to the schooner, made fast to the forward mast and flood and water pulled over to us from the dredge. Tuesday morning the Sabine pilot boat Florida took us in tow off the jetty, and toward the pilot launch. Relief, we reached the city late in the afternoon."

On the whole voyage from Mobile the Tarpon did not encounter a fair wind for 30 minutes at a stretch. Either a storm drove the little craft along under reefed sails, or dead calm settled over the burning expanse of Gulf.

cooking, steering day and night, shifting sails to catch the breeze or reefing canvas as squalls and storms descended on the Tarpon, kept both Prince and his companion busy day and night.

When days and nights slipped by the Tarpon pitching violently in seas rolled up before squalls, or lay still and lifeless with canvas hanging in dead calms. "A painted ship upon a painted ocean," and water and food supplies almost gone, Prince and the crew lay aboard with their hands up in the agony of thirst and starvation by setting the Tarpon on fire and jumping overboard, he said here today.

Until the tug boat with its dredge in tow sighted the Tarpon about 4:30 a. m. Tuesday, no other vessels were sighted, although lookout was kept day and night for vessels which might be hailed to replenish dwindling supplies of food and water.

Four months ago Prince started for Port Arthur with the Tarpon and was not heard from for six weeks after he left South Pass, New Orleans. Then came word he had been blown eastward, instead of westward, bringing up in Mobile. Prince caught by Prince and a man aboard with him were all the food they had until Mobile was reached. Efforts to get towed from Mobile to Port Arthur failed, and Prince set out 30 days ago to sail across the Gulf to this port.

While "Ma" Ferguson has decided that she will stand for at the state convention, she informed The News representative that she had not received a decision as to whom she would support for chairman of the state meeting and the chairmanship of the state democratic organization for the next two years. Senator Joe Burkhett, one of Mrs. Ferguson's opponents in the first primary, has solicited her support for the convention chairmanship.

John Tobin, now mayor of San Antonio and former sheriff of Bexar county, has also been suggested to her. Tobin was a strong Ferguson supporter and is one of the anti-klan leaders of the state.

FINE FERGUSONS

Appeal Verdict in No Show License Case

Fine of $25 and costs was assessed this morning against the Ferguson Brothers stock company on charges filed by Sam Nichols alleging operation of an amusement house without license.

The case being heard before Judge H. A. Shivers in city court and notice of appeal given by the defendants.

Nichols charged the two Ferguson brothers should have taken out a license and should have gotten permits before showing at an air show at Seventh and Savannah. The defendants placed City Clerk E. H. Miles on the stand to show they had complied with the law as far as they knew in asking for information as to what procedure they were to adopt.

Ferguson brothers said they were given the impression by Miles and by Henry Matre they would not have to secure a license because they made no admission charge for their performance. The minimum fine was assessed by Judge Shivers.

ing. "She said she saw both Matie and Flanagan drive up in cars. She declared that she saw the entire proceedings, but her testimony did not bear up under cross-examination by Attorney C. W. Howitt for the defense and she admitted that she was unable to see all the movements of Matie and Flanagan at the time of the killing.

Miss Fay Clark was placed on the stand shortly before noon. She testified that she had been going about with Matie for a month or more before the shooting. She also stated that prior to this time Flanagan had been visiting her sister but at the time she had started going with Campbell that she and Flanagan had "broken up."

In answer to a question with reference to the effect of her friendship with Campbell, Miss Clark declared that Flanagan did not seem like the same man and seemed to have Michael Matie, she told of various occasions when Flanagan and Carey Batson had followed her and her sister when they were with Matie and Campbell. She also testified that they had made fun of her for going with Matie.

SAVE THIS FOR A BLUE DAY

ENGLAND A LIBERAL GIVER
According to Frederick Conliffe, Owen, England, which has long had the reputation of being the greatest land-grabbing nation in existence, has really given away, for nothing, much territory.

He says that it may possibly be seen to man, Britland, and also that there is no empire on the face of the globe that has done so much in the way of voluntary relinquishment of overseas possessions as Great Britain. It is timely to call attention to that fact in connection with her voluntary transfer of Jubaland to Italy. The very location and size of Jubaland was ignored by the vast majority of the 400,000,000 people who are subject to King George, yet Jubaland is a valuable tract of territory, larger than the kingdom of Scotland, and being some fifty thousand square miles forming the Northern part of the British Colony of Kenya, in East Africa.

The territory in question lies to the southwest of the broad Bay of Juba which, until recently, it constituted the Anglo-Italian border line.

Lloyd George and Lord Curzon conveyed the impression that Great Britain was endeavoring to evade her obligations with regard to Jubaland at the close of the war and that created intense bitterness in Italy and was responsible for much of the unfriendliness which has existed for some time, directed toward England at the League of Nations. But when the new labor cabinet came into office at Downing street, and Premier Ramsay MacDonald assumed the direction of the foreign relations of the empire, after careful consideration he took the line that the national honor of England was involved in fulfilling her obligations to the subject of the East African provinces. And he has taken now the necessary steps for turning over the Jubaland to Italy without any further quibbling.

Jubaland is only one of a long list of territory which Great Britain has voluntarily relinquished. The Philippines once belonged to England, having surrendered in 1902 to the United States under the command of S. W. H. D. Draper and Admiral Samuel Cornish. After a few years England found out that emigrants would not go to the Philippines on account of its distance and the treachery of the climate and so a few years later, without any being brought to bear upon her she deliberately, and of her own accord, restored the islands to Spain, the latter undertaking to pay the money spent on public works by Great Britain. The money was never paid but remains owing to Great Britain to this day.

Cuba once belonged to England. It was taken by a British fleet and army under Lord Albemarle in the middle of the eighteenth century. It was afterwards restored to Spain for no other reason than that the administration in the island did not care to retain it any longer.

Java, and in fact all of the Dutch East Indies, were in the possession of England from 1811 until 1816, when they were voluntarily restored to Holland without any compensation whatever in return. Yet these Dutch East Indies are perhaps the richest colony of any European power.

Guinea was taken by Great Britain as the result of a war of life and treasure, but one-third of it was presented as a free gift to France in 1815, and one-third to the Netherlands.

Holland was given by Great Britain in return for the abandonment of Teuton claims in Zanzibar.

New Guinea, the largest island in the world, next to Australia, was formerly annexed to Queensland. But Great Britain relinquished one-half of New Guinea and it became known as Kaiser Wilhelmland. The great war enabled the Commonwealth of Australia to recover its possession and it is now more under the British flag. Samoa was abandoned by England in 1899 to Germany and was restored during the Great war also. The Samoan Archipelago is now administered by New Zealand.

Gibraltar has been offered to Spain six times but has always been declined. Today, Spain bitterly regrets the loss of this important outpost of Great Britain to restore to her Gibraltar, while there is no Englishman who does not congratulate himself on the good fortune which frustrated these foolish offers.

Egypt has also been given up by Great Britain and less than a quarter of a century ago Tangiers was abandoned by it.

Altogether, according to Mr. Conliffe, England has made a good record by her generosity but she will never give up the Suez Canal or the Sudan. Each owns to her peace, prosperity and civilization.

THROWS CHAIR AT BANDITS: THEY FLEE

ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 27.—Will Allen, railroad station master, had almost finished unloading $2,000 in fares when two bandits entered making him count. He threw a chair at them and they fled, without the $2,000.

Even when life is most unpleasant, you have more pleasure than unhappiness. You don't believe it? Then you have a bone to pick with Professor J. C. Flugel, senior lecturer in philosophy and psychology in University College, London.

Flugel got the notion that pleasure always outbalances displeasure. To prove it, he had nine men live "an unpleasant life" for a month. They jotted down, in their note books, every feeling they experienced.

Averaging the scores, Flugel found that, out of every 100 feelings or emotions experienced by his investigators, 68 were pleasant and only 32 unpleasant.

The gloomiest man of the crowd was amazed to learn, when he finally checked up, that he had been happy 46 per cent of the time, unhappy 36 per cent, and "on the fence" the rest of his month.

Examining the note book records, Professor Flugel found that there are 22 main causes of pleasure and 24 causes for displeasure. Many are not as important as we imagine at the time.

Food produces a pleasurable feeling amounting to less than 6 per cent of a person's total emotions. "Tender emotion" less than 1 per cent, "companionship and society" only a quarter of 1 per cent of the total.

Fatigue, it was learned, is responsible for less than 4 per cent of all emotions, sorrow 1 per cent, embarrassment a half of 1 per cent.

One trouble with compiling these statistics of emotions is that a thing may cause pleasure on one occasion and displeasure on another. For example, The fragrant odors of a well-cooked dinner are highly pleasing to a hungry man. But the reaction is apt to be the opposite if the same man has just gorge himself on the same food.

Nothing is quite enticing as the thing we can't have. In fact, according to another authority, Professor J. W. Bridges, it is only when instinct is thwarted that emotion develops.

But the "fingers" seem to show that there's more pleasure than pain in the world, even when life is not running smoothly.

A good thing to remember when we're blue. And, too, we couldn't experience pleasant emotions to serve as contrast. Joy and pain—physical, mental or emotional—are matters of contrast.

ON, STANLEY, ON

Senator Augustus O. Stanley of Kentucky has been renominated by the democrats of that state. He defeated John J. Howe by 35,000 majority. Senator Stanley was branded as a wet by the anti-saloon league of Kentucky and Howe was the candidate of the ultra pros.

Senator Stanley declared that he had been an anti until the coming of the Eighteenth amendment, that he regarded prohibition as a settled issue, that he was for the enforcement of all laws, both federal and state in the courthouse and not in the brush or the river bottom. A large majority of the democrats of Kentucky accepted the argument of Senator Stanley as conclusive proof that his democracy was all right and that he was the man for them to keep in the senate of the United States.

Kentucky democrats say they will roll up a majority of sixty thousand for John W. Davis and the entire ticket in November. They are well organized, they look upon John W. Davis as one of the very ablest of American statesmen and they are confident that all the border states as well as the solid south will be found in behind Davis and Bryan when the ballots are counted on November election day.

ANOTHER REPUBLICAN ROW

Frank W. Sterns of Boston is said to be the man behind the throne in the Coolidge administration. This so-called Colonel House of the republican party declared Speaker Frederick H. Gillette the man for the republicans to nominate to bring about the defeat of Senator David L. Walsh.

Now the other republican aspirants are very ugly and they are demanding that the president shall show his hand openly and not stab off Dallinger or other senatorial candidates in the back.

Why drag Coolidge into it? Isn't he the most cautious man in America? Didn't the congressional leaders of his party smash every proposition that he made while the national solons were in session?

Didn't they override his veto messages? Didn't they kick aside his tax reducing programs? Didn't they make life for the president miserable from start to finish?

One of the expensive fallacies in home building is the building of bungalows to save money and increase comfort.

This article does not include California bungalows, which have been well worked out and adapted to the needs of the people in a sane, progressive way. The common "city and suburban" bungalow is the one referred to here.

On one particular count alone the bungalow is more expensive than a two-story house of the same cubic area—the bungalow must use up twice as much roof for the same amount of room. Furthermore, it covers more land and in that way eats up back and front yard space.

In addition, the resale value of a bungalow is likely to be less than that of a two-story home of the same cost because the two-story home looks like "a lot more for the money." The bungalow is also a space waster, but it has become largely popularized through advertising.

I people have bought bungalows largely to avoid running upstairs and downstairs and have lost sight of other real values in such purchases—as well as losing sight of costs and resale value.

The NERVOUS WRECK by E. J. Rath

6124-27 NEA Service

BEGIN HERE TODAY CHAPTER XIV

The "Nervous Wreck," an eccentric young attorney, is driving Sally Morgan from her father's ranch to the station when they run out of gasoline. At the point of a gun the Wreck takes five gallons from a passing car.
Later they are held captive at a ranch along the way because Charles McSwain, the foreman, wants Sally for a cook. They discover that Mr. Underwood, the owner of the ranch, was in the car which they held up. Sheriff Bob Wells, who is Sally's fiancé, comes to the ranch to take charge of the case. Sally cooks the evening meal and Timothy, the Underwood chauffeur, acts as the waiter. "Other parties besides us have been getting held up," says the information Timothy brings back to Sally in the kitchen.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Other parties?" said Sally.
"Yes ma'am. The sheriff has been telling the boss about it. There were two other automobiles stuck up somewhere around here within the past couple of weeks. As near as I can make out from what the sheriff tells the boss, it's a new sort of game. First they had Indian out here that scalped people; that was quite a while back. Then they ran the Indians out or civilized 'em, and things were along all right until they had road agents, holding up stages. Well, they got the best of the road agents after several parties had got killed, and the business sort of died out.
"And then—the sheriff has been going right into the history of all of it—there was a new bunch got to working on the trains. I can remember reading about them in the papers myself. They used to go through the trains and take everything that everybody had, and anybody that didn't give up got shot. It took quite a while to get rid of all the train-robbers, but finally they did and everything looked peaceful. And now they've begun again on the automobiles."

"Really?" exclaimed Sally.
"Yes ma'am. I don't mean the same bunch, understand? They hung about the old ones. It seems, the sheriff tells the boss, that in the last two or three years there's been a lot of automobiles coming through this way; mostly rich people from the east, like the boss. They go clear on out to the coast and then drive all the way back again. Some of 'em carry quite a lot of valuables and these new hold-up gangs sometimes make a pretty good profit. The sheriff says they didn't get into his county until quite recent, but he heard about their goings on outside of it.
"But they've got into his county and he's quite stirred up. We're the third car in about two weeks. I guess the business is getting good, because it seems the gang is taking on new members. There were six of 'em that stuck up us, you know."
He said it so blandly that Sally was half persuaded he believed it. "Six," repeated Timothy. "The boss claims only four, but there was two more that he didn't see. I didn't like to contradict him in front of the sheriff, but there was six, all right. I'm going to tell the sheriff when I get a chance, because he ought to have all the clues, so he can get to work right."

"Certainly," said Sally in an absent way.
She was pondering over the surprising intelligence from Timothy and wondering how it effected the case of the Wreck and herself. If there was really a gang at work in the county—and, of course, Bob Wells would not say so unless it were true—it seemed to make their own case much simpler. The exploit of the Wreck would naturally be blamed on those who were in the business for a living. It began to look as if they were hiding from nothing at all.

She slipped into the pantry and closed the door behind her. At the farther end was the other door, that opened into the dining room. It was a swinging door, with a half-inch space between the edge of it and the frame. She tipped her head down and brought her ear close to the crack and stood there breathing softly.

Underwood was talking, but not about bandits. He was talking about Sally's apple pie.
"I'm going to take her back to New York with me and fire my French cook," he announced. "I don't know what sort of a job her husband can fill, but I'll find something for him."
Sally raised her eyebrows, for this was news. And then she heard the familiar, boisterous voice of Bob Wells.

"I don't blame you," said the sheriff. "The lady can certainly cook. You don't get a cook once in a lifetime. When you get 'em the thing to do is to rope 'em and brand 'em, and then don't let 'em outside the corral. Looking is a woman's natural job, but they don't all get to be experts. But now and then, if you keep your eyes open, you can find one. Why—"
He paused to chuckle comfortably. "The fact is, I'm going to marry one," he said.

"Congratulations," remarked the heavy voice of Jerome Underwood. "That's the way I look at it," said the sheriff lightly. "You take that chicken, those biscuits, that pie—I've got a girl who can cook every bit as well as that. Understand me, she can do a lot more than cook. She's a smart girl and she's pretty, too. But when it comes to cooking she doesn't have to take her hat off to anybody. After all, it's the main thing. It's the foundation."
"Absolutely," said the voice of Underwood, out of a full mouth.

A duty flitter stood inside the shed. He stared at it for a while, wrinkling his forehead and trying to remember whether anybody at the ranch possessed such a thing. He stepped into the shed and walked slowly around it. The place was getting rather dark, which was not favorable for detailed observation. So far as he could see, however, it looked just like any other flitter. But no; there was a front wheel missing, on the left side. A soapbox had been placed under the axle. He looked around the shed, but could not find the wheel. It struck him as peculiar that anybody should put a flitter under lock and key, particularly one that had only three wheels.

Presently he stepped outside again and paused for another view of the rear end. His glance rested upon a license plate and became fixed there. There was a vague stirring in his memory. Then, with a look of astonishment on his face, he hurried off in the direction of the ranch house.

All this he had been relating to his father as they sat in the living room, and Jerome Underwood had been shooting questions at him that began in incredulity and developed into genuine curiosity.

"You say you can remember the license plate?" demanded his father. "No; I didn't remember the number, of course. I never took any note of it; I wasn't near enough other night. But it just has the general look; I think maybe it's the color that stuck in my mind."
"And it's a one-century?"
"Huh! Well, there are millions of them, of course. You ought always to remember license numbers in any kind of an emergency."

TRUCK CRUSHES LIFE FROM LUFKIN INFANT

LUFKIN, Aug. 27.—Flying off a moving auto truck and meeting a horrible death under the heavy wheels of the moving vehicle was the fate of I. D. Jones, Jr., 19-month-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Jones of Lufkin. The parents of the child were riding a truck to Nacogdoches on the Lufkin-Nacogdoches highway when the tragedy occurred. This was the second child buried during the week, a 7-month-old baby having been buried two days previous.

The Festoon Necklace Given First Place In Fall Jewelry Display

IF MILADY does not wear much jewelry this season she will be out of fashion. Repeating the emphasis of the early spring come large novelty pieces of jewelry, which will have a fitting place in milady's wardrobe for the fall season.

A compromise has apparently been struck between the choker and the short necklace, for the palm of the oncoming season has been granted to the festoon necklace. Double, triple and quadruple strands prepare to encircle fair throats in the head of the moment which, at this writing, is the novelty pearl. Splendid are emerald and gold filigree festoons, while a note of quiet elegance is achieved by a series of metal strands in gold or silver round beads. In the festoons beads of normal size are employed, not the giant metal ones used in the tight chokers. These are still being shown in plain surface, in filigree, and in combination with very small ones. Cubes and round beads of all materials with pleasing grace to the new series form of the short or medium length necklace, while the fringe or pendant development at the bottom of the necklace is the most novel necklace moved with alacrity to this newest whim of fashion.

The choker with the long tassels pendant is due for a considerable vogue. The stunning simplicity of white pearls with a motif of gemstones or emerald cannot be omitted; nevertheless, the long tassels offer opportunity for interesting glass bead and metal combinations.

The cube appears to have been pulled out, usually in length. Some of the new cube employed depart from shape fabricating to grooving the surface; floral engraving is also noted. Several sponsors are backing necklaces—large rhinestone brooches, carvers and linkages, generally to be worn at the neckline or as hat ornaments. The return of the brooch will bear watching. Shoulder pins have been used by smart women for several months and a large line of bar and brooch pins are being exhibited by leading jewelers. Fifth avenue. For military, small rhinestone slide buckles, rhinestone bow knots, aluminum plaques and composition birds are offered. Flexible bracelets seem to have profited by the favor attained by the precious metal link bracelet. Rhinestone strands, pearl of all widths, filigree balls, and large, square set stones have made decided improvements.

The more than acceptable business done in rings is expected to continue. Some talk is current of setting bracelets to match rings and it is suggested that both be displayed on one tray. A carrying situation concludes unchanged; it is as safe to attribute it to "fads" as anything else. New imitation stones are flared emerald and a sea green transparent blue which has a depth about equal to that of aquamarine. A new pearl distinctly bolder.

DAY NURSERY KIDDIES ENTERTAINED BY GIRLS

The kiddies of the Day Nursery were delightfully entertained yesterday afternoon by the Minnehaha Camp Fire girls.

The girls had previously made some books, dolls, and other toys for the Day Nursery children and yesterday afternoon took these to the children. After the children had been presented with the toys, they were taken to Lions Park and there enjoyed two delightful hours of outdoor games from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The Minnehaha Camp Fire girls have been entertaining the children of the Day Nursery each Tuesday afternoon during the month of August. For this entertaining each girl will receive an honor badge. The work has proved unusually interesting to most of the girls who were never in the Day Nursery home before.

Those who entertained the twenty-one children yesterday were Viola Youngblood, Mary Wellborn, Kathleen Ward, Carol Lefkowitz, Lenora Sherman, Helen Davis, Sarah Heinemann, Hazel Carey, and the guardian, Mrs. Emmett Welch and Mrs. Luman Wheeler.

I'm very much interested in what you say about Ruth Ellington marrying Walter Burke. I rather think she's going to be very happy. "Be a husband" is a very pleasant experience, and that will give rather a practical turn to her ideas of men and marriage. She never will expect as much again.

Do you know, Jack, if I ever marry, I think I'll marry a widow. I have been said that women like men with a past because they want men with experience for husbands; for that same reason I think I would like a widow for a wife. I would be used to men's little selfishnesses and idiosyncrasies.

I remember once a Presbyterian minister telling me in great triumph that he had caught his wife all the passion she ever knew. He had the look of a cat who has eaten its canary, but all I could think of was the poor canary.

Just why you don't like Ruth Burke I never could understand. Is it because she has always proved herself so efficient, as well as such a good friend, to Leslie—or were you afraid she would tell Leslie some of men's frailties as she knew them?

I know if I were a woman and had been married to a man like Harry Ellington, I would have fallen for a man like Walter Burke immediately. He was never intrusive with his attentions when she was Ellington's with, you know, but I am sure he gave her a feeling that he was always there, and that thought that many a woman, I am sure, over the bad places of married life, even if she be the most loyal wife in the world.

I wonder what she's going to do with that lingerie shop? When I was over at your place, at her request I went over to see it, and I must say it is a wonder. I, being a bachelor, never knew a woman could squander so much money on her underclothing—something which only she and her own sex usually see. I've come to the conclusion that the answer to that ancient question, "Do women dress for women or men?" can be answered emphatically, "For dress for women."

First, every woman dresses for herself. A woman loves beautiful things, and to quote part of your letter, "ever since Eve appeared before Adam in an ornate and ornamental confession," she has gloried in making herself not only attractive to some man, but she has insisted upon making herself as beautiful as she could for herself alone.

I had intended to write you a scolding letter, telling you without mincing my words what an egregious ass you have been, still are, and probably always will be where a man is concerned; and here I go with a short, analytical disburdening. You have probably observed before this that Leslie and Leslie's reactions interest me much more than you or your trouble.

I'm going to close this letter by telling you that another thing you should immediately do is to get that old maid out of your mother's apartment. If necessary, tell your mother that she must send her away or go back home and live with her.

Again I want you not to get too interested in Mrs. Albertson. Either she is a very clever woman, or a woman so different from any other woman with whom you've come in contact that she is a constant provocation to you.

I don't trust you, Jack. You know you have no more morals than a rabbit, where women are concerned. With this great compliment, I will close.

Jimmy Bell Worries Over Clothing Situation

JOHNNY NOBLE and "his EIGHT fast men" weren't fast enough yesterday and the league-leading Central Area crew hammered out another victory, 16 to 1. Pitcher Stoner of the West Siders, who took the defeat good naturedly, had little control and did not attempt to put a great deal of stuff on the ball for fear of straining his soup.

The Central boys accumulated a total of 13 hits, and out of the bunch the only one benefiting anything was Jimmy Bell, who couldn't negotiate anything more than one hit in four times charged at bat. Jimmy's worrying about a suit of clothes he'll win if he hits .400 in the league, but admits he won't even win a pair of green socks at the present rate.

Hitter, Johnny Noble, was playing the first half himself yesterday and playing the game in accepted big league style, taking every one of six chances and finishing in two double plays. The Central boys of the Central team had a fine day, allowing only four hits, one of them a mere scratch and besides made three hits and three runs in his three times at bat. But in center field for Central also had a perfect day at bat, getting a triple and two singles in three times at bat besides a sacrifice fly.

West Side simply wasn't good enough for Central yesterday, and Stoner's pitching was too much of a form. In the field West Side played a pretty fair game, but not good enough for the bingles slashed out by the league leaders.

Catcher Fred of West Side split his lip in a run-in with Third baseman Draughon going after a foul. The ball was in Draughon's territory and an out was missed when it should have been an easy out. A little later in the game Draughon hit Stoner after a fly out of the pitcher's box and when it was found there had been an easy out for third base.

Elks Hurl Back Proposition to Athletics for Game Here Sunday

Dundee Retires

DUNDEE AS HE LOOKED IN THE TOP AND AS HE LOOKED TODAY (RIGHT)

Without once defending the title, Johnny Dundee has forfeited the leadership championship which he won from the gallant Eugene Christ of France a year ago last July. "I'm getting too heavy to make the weight and besides the competition is uninteresting," explained the veteran fighter.

Dundee will devote his future ring activities to the junior lightweight and the lightweight divisions.

Kid Kaplan, New England youngster, is rated as his most probable successor as featherweight champion.

Dundee has been fighting professionally since 1911 and has been in more than 200 hard battles.

Experts agree he is about at the end of his string.

'Wildcat' Ewing to Box in Mexico City

"Wildcat" Ewing of Houston, who will be remembered in Port Arthur for his appearance some time ago with "Smiling Kelly," is preparing to leave for Mexico City, where he has a series of four fights booked, according to advices received this morning from Houston.

Ewing will tackle Bobby Green of San Antonio in his first engagement across the border.

PRIZES PLANNED FOR CONTESTS

Three Games With Crowley Cancelled

Port Arthur's two ball teams, the Athletics and the Elks, may meet in their long desired game Sunday. The Elks had three games scheduled with Crowley, La., on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, but these games were cancelled by Crowley, leaving Manager Cliff Gunn without a game at this late date. Gunn's plan now, as submitted to The News, is to hold a field day on Lakeside diamond and a ball game afterwards with the Athletics.

Six Contests Planned

All ball players are welcome in the field contest Sunday, provided they are home boys. Starting at 2 o'clock the following contests will be held with prizes of $5 in each event: throwing contest, fungo batting, circling bases, 100-yard dash, best throwing pitcher. All prizes will be paid out of the gate receipts, Gunn stipulates.

Gunn's plan is to hold the ball game immediately after the field contest, the two teams, the Athletics and the Elks, drawing from these Port Arthur players: Franch, Fulbright, Smith, Davis, Corlier, F. Morgan, Iglesias, Prejann, Romero, Cooke, Leach, Burch, Krensky, Black, T. Morgan, Bell, Hase, R. Jordan, Embart, Hooker, Aldinger, Perkins, Palmer, Crow. Gunn insists that all members of the Athletics' team must be home players, and that the Elks will observe the same ruling. Twenty-five dollars is to be taken out for prize money, and the balance of $25 will be taken out as a benefit for "Sweet Cookie" Cook, pitcher in local baseball who has been laid out of work for several weeks with a broken wrist. The Elks will have charge of the gate and put all expenses, Gunn says. Umpires, Cole, umpires, will receive $5 apiece and hold all rights of league umpires.

Athletics to Batson

All gate receipts after deduction of expenses will go to the players, winners to get 60 per cent, losers 40 per cent. This does not include any players who would damage their amateur standing, such as Iglesias and Tommy Morgan.

The Athletics play at Batson Monday for a big Labor Day barbecue and celebration. Originally the A's were scheduled to play Orange, but Manager Counsell says the Diamonds never gave him the courtesy of an answer to his letters so he went ahead and scheduled Batson.

Another Day In the Majors

YESTERDAY'S hero—Joe Hauser, Athletics' first baseman, hit his 21st home run in the twelfth inning and beat the White Sox 4 to 2. It was the thirteenth straight defeat for the Sox.

Rogers Hornsby hit his 22nd home run—the sixth in six days—and three doubles, but the other Cardinals couldn't do anything with Burleigh Grimes and the Robins won 7 to 4. After winning eight straight games the Senators lost the first game of a doubleheader to the Browns 6 to 2, but they won the second game 6 to 2 and lost only one point in percentage.

Two errors by Grimes in the ninth inning started a rally that gave the Giants four runs and an 11 to 9 victory over the Cubs. Yde let the Phils have only five hits in the first game and the Pirates won 4 to 1, but Hubbell outpitched Morrison in the second game and the Phils copped 3 to 1.

Joe DiMaggio led the attack on Burton with two doubles and a triple but the Reds beat the Braves 7 to 0, behind Pete Duhonue.

High School Grid Men Called Out by Smith For Meeting Thursday

Port Arthur high school football will start rolling Thursday night when Coach Lee Smith meets with prospective players for the first time. Smith has called a meeting for 7:30 Thursday night at which he will make a full statement of all prospective players, regardless of whether they have ever played on the high school team.

"We are going to talk things over and make our plans, and that's why I want all the boys out that are planning on going out for the team," Smith says.

Prospects are fairly bright for the coming season, the coach says. Although three of last year's players were lost by graduation, much of last year's material is again available and this spells well for a crack high school grid team this fall.

Craig Retrieves Honor Of Outing With Tryon

"You can tell 'em a good man ain't most got shut," said George M. Craig, president of the Merchants National bank, the other day. Craig said he was on the slouting and and John W. Tryon of the Gulf refinery was on the other end. It all happened over a tarpon fishing trip last week Sunday—that is, over an account in The News about it. The News had it down that in-run was the hero of the occasion and caught two tarpon and that Craig caught only one. Nothing of the kind—Craig caught two tarpon.

Bill Tilden Will Meet Spain's Net Star Today

BY HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Staff Correspondent, FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Clear skies and a bright warm sun brought ideal conditions for play today in the National singles tennis championship at the West Side Tennis club here this afternoon. The courts were in splendid condition after the heavy rain.

Officials of the tournament decided to carry the finals over until Tuesday instead of Monday rather than make the attempt to catch up on the round lost yesterday by postponement. It was felt that some of the star players, who have been pinning themselves for a crack at Bill Tilden's title might go stale with only one day's layoff and that overwork in the early rounds might throw them off their game.

The matches that were called off late Monday because of a storm and the second round matches postponed yesterday will be played today.

The feature match on this afternoon's program will be that of Bill Tilden, the national title holder versus Manuel Alonso, the Spanish star. It is a rather odd opener for Tilden and is equally hard on Alonso who is forced to beat the outstanding player in the tournament without a chance to warm up against easy opponents.

Tilden probably will win although Alonso is the only player who has beaten him in the last two years.

The champion will then have to beat Lucien Williams, Chicago, the former intercollegiate champion from Yale. Williams has been coming fast and is regarded as one of the dark horses in the tournament.

Some Chinese cities have streets that are only three feet wide.

Beaumont's substitute to do little better, while Jacobson finished up after. Beaumont had led 7-0 to a pinch hitter. Beaumont rallied for one run in the ninth, but the punch wasn't there to win.

Permanent roads are a good investment—not an expense

Road Building Far Behind the Automobile

Millions now recognize the automobile as a necessity. It is no longer a luxury for the few. Sixty per cent of its use is for business.

Because of this the modern paved highway has become an economic necessity.

Yet although the mileage of Concrete Roads and Streets has been steadily increasing, our highway system today lags far behind the automobile. The great majority of our highways are as out of date as the single-track, narrow gauge railway of fifty years ago.

Such a condition not only seriously handicaps the progress of the automobile as a comfortable, profitable means of transportation, but also holds back commercial, industrial and agricultural advancement in practically every section of the country. It is costing taxpayers millions of dollars annually.

Highway building should be continued and enlarged upon.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support. Tell them you are ready to invest in more and wider Concrete Highways now.

A Message That Is of Vital Interest to Every Citizen of Port Arthur

Port Arthur is to have an Armory—or in other terms a Memorial Auditorium. You perhaps have heard some talk of this before. Now it is becoming a reality. The 111th Engineers have already raised part of the necessary funds with which to build. They have pledged over three months of their pay in order that they might have a fitting place for their equipment, a place where any civic or social organization might have entertainments and have a proper place in which to do so.

Here's the Proposition

What we propose to do in order to complete the raising of funds and at the same time not ask for any donations is this. We propose to sell you non-interest bearing bonds of $10, $25, $50 and $100, whatever you can afford. These bonds will be retired in 10 years. The security is as good as a bank note. Besides this we propose, that any time the city votes bonds to erect for you a city hall and civic center in conjunction for you a city hall and civic center in conjunction the people of Port Arthur our title to the building which we now propose. Therefore you can readily see that our proposition is strictly a civic proposition and is the first step in Port Arthur's securing an Auditorium.

Here's How You Can Help

That the 11th Engineers are a deserving organization is shown by some of the following statements made by a few of Port Arthur's leading citizens.

Mr. D. P. Sheeks Says:

"I believe that every community should have a guard unit equipped with arms, uniforms, and respectable quarters. Port Arthur is fortunate in having two companies, but the lack of an Armory is quite a handicap."

Capt. Eddy Says:

"The 111th Engineers deserve much credit for this very commendable effort. It will fill a long felt need in Port Arthur."

Mr. Duvis Button Says:

"I believe that the business interest of Port Arthur will support the 111th Engineers so wholeheartedly that the Auditorium will be a reality this fall."

Mr. Geo. W. Carter Says:

"I firmly believe in the ex-Service man and the National Guard. The Guard is a fine organization for our young men because it teaches obedience to orders, respect for law, and trains brain and body for better citizens. Every encouragement should be given them by our citizens."

The 111th Engineers Is A Deserving Organization

When You Invest In a Bond You Are Helping to Meet One of Port Arthur's Longfelt Needs. Invest Now

We Will Call on You Personally In a Few Days and Explain In Detail Just What This Means to You and to Port Arthur

Port Arthur, Texas
Aug. 27, 1924

To the Citizens of Port Arthur:

For two years as an organization we have served our state and our city faithfully.

We are your citizen Soldiers!

Quietly and efficiently we have gone about our duties, working with you day by day in the stores and factories and in the evenings donning our khaki and training ourselves to protect Our Country, Our State and You—Our Neighbors—should that need ever again occur in the history of our organization. We are proud of our historical record in the world war.

We want you to be proud of us.

We would like you to visit us in our home which we call our Armory, but unfortunately at this time we are without a suitable place to welcome you into.

We now occupy unpleasant quarters and we want a better place for our home. Will you help us get it?

We need a place for drill and instruction, where we can "keep fit" our minds and our bodies should Old Glory ever need them. A place where we can entertain you, too.

In discussing this among ourselves we decided that we would ask our fellow citizens to help us finance an Armory—but we believe that it would be selfish to build for ourselves alone. We want you to enjoy it too.

We are therefore asking you to buy bonds so that we may build a Memorial Auditorium. We want the Charitable and Civic bodies of the city to benefit, we want the Labor organizations, the Legion and the Boy Scouts of Port Arthur to join hands with us and to have a place in our Memorial Auditorium where they may meet for work and relaxation.

We have $85,000 in property inadequately and insecurely stored in Port Arthur now. We have spent $27,000 in money in Port Arthur in two years. Our payroll amounts to $2500 every three months.

Believing that we should take every initiative in this Memorial Auditorium we have subscribed for $2750 worth of our bonds, which are in $10, $25, $50 and $100 denominations.

The city has assured us a site for our Memorial and not to be outdone in generosity we agreed to give to the people of Port Arthur our title to the Building we erect at any time the City will erect for you a city hall and civic center in conjunction with our Memorial.

Mr. and Mrs. Zebra were out strolling themselves

"Let's go and see Ma and Mr. Zebra," Weeny called to the Twins. "They were very good friends of mine in the circus."

"What do Zebras look like," asked Nancy.

"Don't you know?" said Weeny, in surprise. "Why, they look exactly like animals. But I never could make up my mind whether they were white with black stripes or black with white stripes. And they are all exactly alike."

"I know what you mean now," said Nancy. "They look like ponies, don't they?"

"Yes! Just exactly," said Weeny. "They used to walk along in the circus parade pulling Cinderella in a silver sleigh."

"I remember," cried Nick. "Do you suppose they'll let us ride them?"

"Wouldn't be surprised a bit if they did," said Weeny. "Why, here we are now, right at the place."

Mr. and Mrs. Zebra were out strolling themselves on a nice grassy spot in front of their house when the travelers arrived. But they were not alone. A tiny zebra about knee high to a duck was playing around and kicking up his heels like a spring lamb.

"Hello, Weeny," called Mr. Zebra. "I just kind of thought that was you."

"Well, you didn't have to look twice to see me, did you, Mr. Zebra?"

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

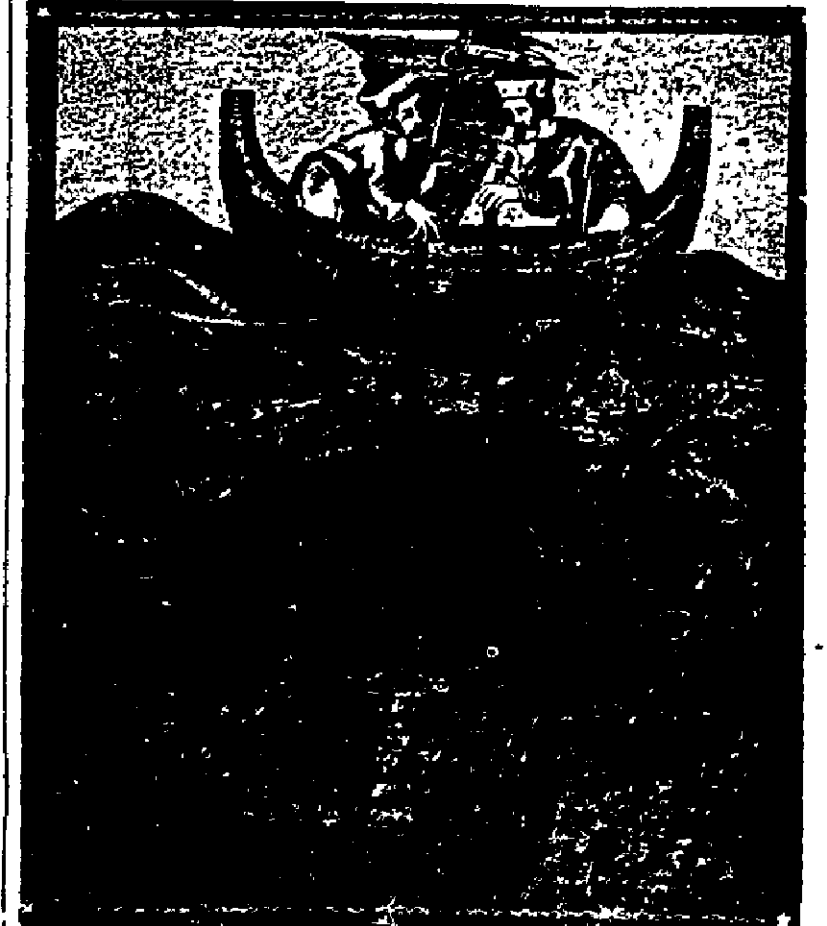

By Uncle RAY

Our picture takes up a great deal of space today, but I think it is worth it. It shows what an artist of the Middle Ages thought the deep sea was like. It was made to go with a legend which said an ancient emperor had been lowered into the sea in a glass barrel.

Light over the barrel is a whale. You will notice that the whale's eye

Up there is a small sailboat, containing two men who have lowered the barrel. If the whale had really been right under that little boat, I am sure it would have been upset, and the men would have had a ducking. The emperor would have had a glassy grave.

This picture will give you a good idea of how ignorant of the sea most people were during the Middle Ages.

How Emperor Alexander went down in the sea in a glass barrel, as imagined by an artist of the Middle Ages.

were made too big and were placed too high up.

To the left are two "children of the sea," on the right are two small animals. The animals look like mixtures of sheep and dogs. Swimming all around the whale are fish of various shapes.

There were sailors and scholars who had a fair knowledge of the sea, but not so with the peasants, or many nobles and kings. The Atlantic ocean was a terror to them. They thought it was filled with monsters. They called it the Sea of Darkness.

ACRES OF LAND EATEN AWAY BY MISSOURI

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 27.—Thousands of dollars worth of valuable corn lands are being eaten away by the Missouri River at the rate of an acre an hour, according to farmers in Winndotte county, Kansas.

Large chunks of sandy soil, bearing 7 and 10 foot stalks of corn are disappearing into the swirling waters of the river at an alarming rate while farmers stand helplessly by, unable to check the ravages of the stream.

At present the river is about a quarter of a mile from a railroad track which is diked and is believed the dike will prevent any further damage by the stream in the event the water cuts its path far.

ATLANTIC SHIP TAKING CRUDE

Marsh Fires Cloud Jetty Passages

Three arrivals early today and a fourth expected late this afternoon are reported for Port Arthur, while four ships were on the sailing list. Three of the arrivals are to the Gulf Refining company, the Gulfport from Philadelphia, the Gulfport from Bayonne, and the Gulfport, expected late today, from Tampico. The fourth arrival was the tanker William Boyce Thompson to the Atlantic Refining company's Port Arthur terminals to take part cargo before coming to the Texas Company terminals to finish. Heavy clouds of smoke from marsh fires swept the lower canal and channel out through the jetty early today, making it impossible for the coast guard lookouts to distinguish the names on passing vessels, but navigation in the canal was not delayed because of the smoke screen, according to reports reaching Port Arthur.

KANSAS DEMOS CONDEMN KLAN

Party Council Falls Behind Davis

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 27.—The democratic party of Kansas today had followed the example of the leader of the national ticket in denouncing the Ku Klux Klan.

In a party council here yesterday democratic went on record as being "unambiguously opposed" to the Klan or similar organizations.

Republicans holding their party council here at the same time, ignored the Klan question although there was strong sentiment for an anti-Klan plank.

Talk of an independent republican ticket spread today as a result of dissatisfaction with the results of the election of the Klan issue.

Action of the democrats followed the amendment of Governor Davis that it was "time for the party to clear its skirts of Klan support."

There is talk of an appeal. Nothing in recent years has excited so wide attention as has the litching rack row.

THEM MUST'N RACKS HITCH BE PUT BACK

LOCKHART, Aug. 27.—Coldwell county wire first blood in the litching rack controversy has been on trial in district court for three days. The verdict of the jury was that the rack, cut down by order of the board of city commissioners be replaced and at their expense.

There is talk of an appeal. Nothing in recent years has excited so wide attention as has the litching rack row.

"THE CHECHAHCOS"
Mixing of "The Chechahcos" the Alaskan motion picture now showing at the Cameo theater, was more than a novelty to the people of the far northern territory. It was a matter of official state interest. All the newspapers of Alaska published editorials calling upon the residents to put in and help in order that their brethren in the states might see a northern picture that was true to life and reflected honestly the spirit of the territory.

The production is filled with sets sparkling like diamonds, built by nature and awesome in the magnificence and splendor. There are scenes that defy a Belasco to reproduce in studios, because they are real.

The story is a dynamic, gripping drama, that tells a dramatic story of two men, a woman and a child, and it's a motion picture that runs the gamut of emotion—love, hatred, happiness, sorrow, poverty, riches.

"PIED PIPER MALONE"
If Thomas Meighan were a candidate for a public office he probably would not shake hands with more people than he did recently when he made his latest picture, "Pied Piper Malone," an original story by Booth Tarkington.

The children were just as big favorites with Mr. Meighan as he was with them. They followed him around the studio in complete adoration, which he returned with equal enthusiasm. The star is literally their "Pied Piper" in the picture.

"I am never so happy as when working with children," said Mr.

Whose Eyes Are These?

Here's the sixth pair of eyes for you to guess who owns them. One more pair will be published in The News Thursday, ending the contest.

All answers must be submitted to The News contest editor by 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and the winners of the prizes, which include $10 in gold, $5 and $2.50, and passes to the Holton theaters for four, three and one week, and to single shows, will be announced in The News Sunday morning.

The eyes presented are those of actors in the Rudolph Valentino production of "Monseigneur Beaucarne," opening at the Peoples theater. Entrance in the contest must wait until all the pictures have been published before submitting their guesses to the contest editor, seven pairs of eyes comprising the contest for Port Arthur's guessers.

Meighan as he turned away from a group of his admirers. "They are so unassuming and so natural."

"Pied Piper Malone" opens a 4 days' run at the Peoples Theater today. Lois Wilson, leading woman, heads the strong supporting cast, which includes George Fawcett, Cyril Ring, Charles Stevenson, Joe Burke and a host of others. Alfred Green directed the production. Tom Geraghty wrote the scenario.

"BEAU BRUMMEL"
Who is the greatest lover on the screen? Carmel Myers claims to have the most popular candidate for the honor.

He is John Barrymore, whom Miss Myers supports in "Beau Brummel," now nearing completion.

Says Carmel: "Speaking entirely impersonally and professionally, John Barrymore is the greatest lover on the screen. There is a certain finesse, a certain polish to Mr. Barrymore's love-making that I have never encountered before among leading men in pictures."

"Beau Brummel," now playing a week's engagement at the Peoples theater, is the screen adaptation of the Clyde Fitch play. It is the well-known story of the climb to power of the Beau through his friendship with the Prince of Wales; of the Beau's coldness to beauties of the day; his romances with mirrors and admiring ladies; and his subsequent fall to poverty and disgrace.

Says Carmel: "Speaking entirely impersonally and professionally, John Barrymore is the greatest lover on the screen. There is a certain finesse, a certain polish to Mr. Barrymore's love-making that I have never encountered before among leading men in pictures."

"Beau Brummel," now playing a week's engagement at the Peoples theater, is the screen adaptation of the Clyde Fitch play. It is the well-known story of the climb to power of the Beau through his friendship with the Prince of Wales; of the Beau's coldness to beauties of the day; his romances with mirrors and admiring ladies; and his subsequent fall to poverty and disgrace.

PORT ARTHUR

THE PORT ARTHUR PLANING MILL CO.

This concern's original plant was planned and erected by a company of progressive citizens, headed by the late John W. Gates, and their growth and operations during the past few years are very clearly reflected in the following comparative figures:

	1919	1923
Capital Stock	$15,000.00	$ 60,000.00
Gross Sales	$30,000.00	$225,000.00
Numbers of Employees	5	40
Annual Payroll	$ 9,000.00	$ 50,000.00

The company manufactures and carries in stock a complete line of Sash, Window Frames, Door Frames, Screens, Moulding and Window Glass, having adopted the trade name "GUARANTEED MILLWORK," by which name their products are becoming quite well and favorably known in this section.

Their original plant has been enlarged several times in recent years, and they are just completing an addition of fifty by one hundred fifty foot brick and concrete building, and have recently opened a display room uptown where the latest designs and ideas for prospective home builders are shown.

The plant covers approximately five acres of land, with one thousand feet of deep water frontage on the Ship Canal, and in the future they will no doubt engage in the exportation of their products, although their entire output is at the present time consumed locally and at nearby points.

This is the fifth of a series of articles devoted to the INDUSTRIAL-COMMERCIAL-FINANCIAL progress of Port Arthur and vicinity. Other articles will appear each Wednesday.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red blood cells—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes rose-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S. S. S. at once, and give yourself the best that has been working for 60 years.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in all climes. The larger size is more economical.
